

Arrell Global Food Innovation Awards 2024

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

Question	Answer
I'm an early career researcher/entrepreneur/small company/not-for-profit organisation in the beginning stages. Can I still be nominated for this award?	Yes, you can! We welcome nominations from researchers, not-for-profit organisations and companies at all stages of their career/business for this award. Nomination packages will be reviewed in the context of the nominee's career stage or maturity of the group.
If my nomination doesn't include all the required information outlined in the ' Nomination procedure ' section of the Awards Nomination Instructions PDF , will my package still be considered?	All nominations must include information addressing the requirements stated in the ' Nomination procedure ' section to be considered by the adjudication committee.
I have an amazing idea for a project/business that would qualify for this award. Can I request for funding for this in my nomination package?	While we appreciate your interest in this award, the adjudication committee does not consider requests for funding or proposals. Interested applicants must meet the criteria outlined in the nomination instructions and fulfil all the nomination requirements for their packages to be considered.
How can I learn about the status of my nomination after I've submitted it?	Receipt of all nomination packages will be acknowledged, and only the winners will be contacted. We expect to update our site by June 2024 with the exact announcement date of the winners. Please visit our website for updates: https://arrellfoodinstitute.ca/awards/

If you have specific questions about your nomination that is not answered above or within the Awards Nomination Instructions PDF, please contact afiawards@uoguelph.ca.
